CRYSTAL

Waterford City, Ireland is home to the House of Waterford Crystal, where skilled Waterford Crystal artisans carry on centuries old traditions of mouth blowing, hand finishing, sculpting and engraving.

The rich Waterford heritage spans centuries, with origins that date to 18th century Ireland. Through the years, our reputation for design and innovation has elevated the Waterford brand to a position of worldwide recognition by consumers who consider Waterford the best there is for self and gift purchase.

The House of Waterford Collection pays tribute to the skilful hands of Waterford Crystal's most masterful craftsmen. These crystal pieces are created to satisfy the imagination, pursue an inspiration or simply explore the silvery sparkling medium that has challenged artists for centuries.

The Flora and Fauna collection takes inspiration from the beauty of nature.

Tom Brennan began his apprenticeship at The House of Waterford Crystal in 1986 when he learnt the art of crystal blowing and design techniques. Over the years his experience in mouth-blown crystal artistry has made Tom a great asset to the design and production teams.

The Brennan Vase and Bowl, designed by Tom Brennan are inspired by Tom's travels and love of his native Ireland. Waterford Design Director Matt Kehoe is a 20 year veteran of the Design Department at Waterford Crystal. Matt joined Waterford straight out of design school and at age 21 became the youngest member of the Waterford design team. To celebrate his first year as Design Manager he has created the Beginnings Vase.

Jeff Leatham is a renowned florist with rockstar status. He is the 'go to' florist to the stars and has created a sensation with his extravagant floral designs. Working side-by-side with the design team at the House of Waterford Crystal Studio in Ireland, Jeff created this new collection of floral-themed pieces which radiate his design ethos and personal electricity and magnetism. Together, Waterford and Jeff Leatham meld the essence of two natural elements – fine cut crystal and flowers – to create an entirely new approach to the concept of floral arrangement and presentation. Inspiration for the collections in Fleurology by Jeff Leatham comes from celebrities whom Jeff has designed floral arrangements for including Kylie Minogue and from his grandmother Cleo.

Admired for graceful form that defines tradition even as it transcends it, Lismore has wooed and won three generations. Ireland's spectacular Lismore Castle provided the design inspiration over 60 years ago. That spark led to a creative outpouring that continues to this day with fresh shapes, styles and interpretations of this striking diamond and wedge cut.

The Mad Men collection evokes the atmosphere of the hit television show Mad Men. During the 1960s, barware was very important... this was the era of drinking at work, three Martini lunches and cocktail hour! Four crystal patterns have been created with gold treatment: Circon, Draper – named after the lead character, Don Draper, Olson – named after the lead lady Peggy and Holloway - named after Joan Holloway.

WATERFORD

General Information

CARING FOR CRYSTAL & CRYSTALLINE

Waterford Crystal recommends that you hand-wash your crystal or crystalline one piece at a time in moderately hot water using a mild detergent. Use a soft cleaning cloth – do not use scouring pads or abrasive cleansers.

The interiors of decanters and vases, which are often inaccessible, can be cleaned by pouring in rice with warm soapy water and swirling the mixture around.

After washing in detergent, rinse your crystal or crystalline well in clean water then air dry on a draining rack or hand dry with a soft lint-free cloth. The rims are naturally the weakest part of stemware, so do not place glasses upside down on the draining rack or when storing them. When hand drying, hold the glass by the bowl but refrain from twisting the stem and the bowl in opposite directions as this can cause the stem to snap.

Tests (by association) suggest that repeated washings in very hot water and detergent can create a cloudy look on the surface of the finest crystal. Waterford Crystal does not recommend cleaning crystal or crystalline using a dishwasher as the extreme heat and abrasive cleaners may mark the surface of the crystal or crystalline. Jostling in a dishwasher could also cause chipping or cracking.

To prevent cracking or breakage caused by extreme temperature variations, do not pour cold liquids into crystal or crystalline that has just been washed in hot water. Likewise, allow chilled crystal or crystalline to reach room temperature before immersing in hot water.

To safely remove wax from your crystal candlesticks after use, place your candlestick in the freezer for 10 minutes. The wax will harden, allowing it to easily peel away.

Do not use water to remove wax.

CARING FOR SILVER PLATED PRODUCTS

Monique Lhuillier Waterford Fine Silver Gifts offer a distinctive collection of truly inspired silver plated gifts. Each creation is skilfully designed and painstakingly crafted to meet the exacting standards and tradition of quality for which Waterford is world-renowned.

This item has been specially treated with a lacquer coating to help to prevent tarnish. To clean, simply wipe with a soft dry cloth. Polishes and cleaners may affect the coating.

CARING FOR REBEL GIFTWARE

To clean Rebel giftware, simply wipe with a soft dry lint free cloth. Polishes and cleaners may affect the coating.

CARING FOR NICKEL PLATED PRODUCTS

To maintain the shine of your nickel plated giftware, simply wipe with a soft dry cloth. Hand wash only before the first use with hot water and a mild liquid soap as polishes and cleaners may affect the coating. Dishwasher use is not recommended for this giftware.

Clean immediately after use to prevent tarnishing or staining. Dry thoroughly and immediately before storing to avoid spotting and store in a dry, humid free environment.

Foods containing salt may cause corrosion if they remain on the surface. Prolonged use with water, fruit juice, or any acidic liquids can damage the surface. Not recommended for food storage, particularly hot food, over a prolonged period of time. Do not use in the microwave or to heat food in an oven.
